Information relating to transfers from and to Rome airports

FIUMICINO

This is the main Roman airport for international flights, a hub for all main airlines and some low-cost carriers such as Vueling and EasyJet.

By train

The local train is the quickest way to get from Fiumicino into the city centre. The station is in front of the arrivals in Terminal 3.

The Leonardo Express is a direct train that connects the airport with Termini (central station) in 32 minutes. From Termini you may take either the A or B line of the Metro, as well as many buses to all areas of town. For Leonardo Express timetables, see http://www.trenitalia.com/cms-file/allegati/trenitalia\_2014/informazioni/Giubileo/GM6\_LeonardoExpress\_light.pdf

Train tickets may be purchased online, from automatic vending machines in the station on the platforms and from all authorised sales points such as the kiosks next to the ticket collection desks. Tickets must be validated at the bright yellow stamping machines to be found on the platform before boarding the train. Furthermore, do not forget that, should you wish to proceed with another form of common transport once in Rome to reach another part of town, you will need to buy a Metrebus ticket, which you may buy in town.

By bus

There are various shuttle bus services from Fiumicino to Rome and the bus stops are in front of the arrival halls of Terminals 2 and 3. According to the service, the tickets cost from 4 to 8 Euros each way and the trip between Fiumicino and Rome takes from 40 to 70 minutes, according to number of stops and traffic.

For more information you can consult the following websites: SIT shuttle bus (Piazza Cavour and Termini station), TERRAVISION (Termini station); TAM BUS (Termini and Ostiense stations in Rome); SCHIAFFINI (Termini station).

By taxi

Taxi ranks are located in front of each terminal (arrivals). Make sure to take a white official taxi with the name and logo of the Comune di Roma clearly marked on the door with its licence number.

Taxi fares to reach the city centre are regulated by the Roman authorities and are fixed at €48, including up to four passengers and all luggage (regardless of the time of day). (Please note that "city centre" refers to the part of town within the perimeter of the Aurelian walls – all other destinations are charged as per the taximeter).

CIAMPINO

Most low-cost airlines land in Ciampino, located about 12km south of the city-centre.

Although closer, Ciampino airport does not benefit from the same level of connections with the city centre as Fiumicino. However, one may choose from various options – taxi, private transport, train or bus.

By bus

Several bus companies connect Ciampino airport and Rome, and may be found in clearly marked parking areas in front of international departures. They all arrive either in Termini station (about 40 minutes journey depending on traffic) or in the Anagnina Metro station

(about 20 minutes from the airport in light traffic) so that one may reach town on the underground.
