2025 UNIDROIT ATL SUMMER SCHOOL (First Edition)

I. INSTRUCTIVE LEARNING FOR LEGAL TALENTS

1. The 2025 UNIDROIT ATL Summer School is jointly hosted by the International Institute for the Unification of Private Law (UNIDROIT) and Zhongnan University of Economics and Law (ZUEL) based on their Co-Innovation Training Base for Talents in Foreign-related Rule of Law. The summer school is set to have a wide-reaching social impact and offers a unique learning experience for young talents.

2. The summer school is designed for students from law schools across the world. We expect to welcome around 100 students from approximately 20 different countries. It targets young individuals who aspire to contribute to the unification and harmonisation of private law across different countries and regions, as well as those interested in pursuing careers in international organisations.

3. The programme will be held in Wuhan, China, from September 8 - 21, 2025. It combines lectures by renowned experts, practical learning activities, and visits to local institutions, providing a comprehensive learning environment for participants to deepen their understanding of private law.

4. Language: English

II. LEARNING OBJECTIVES

5. The main objectives of the summer school include:

- (i) Enhancing UNIDROIT's Profile: promote UNIDROIT's legal instruments developed through both current and past projects among students, young researchers, and legal practitioners worldwide;
- (ii) Supporting collaboration: support the development of UNIDROIT and ZUEL's Co-Innovation Training Base for Talents in Foreign-related Rule of Law;
- (iii) Promoting international exchanges: facilitate communication between UNIDROIT and legal research and practice institutes across Asia through teaching, internships, and collaborative research in private international law;
- (iv) Cultivating legal talents: develop professionals capable of effectively participating in and leading the formulation of uniform rules of private law, while contributing to the advancement of the global governance system.

III. COURSE SYLLABUS

6. The course syllabus encompasses a comprehensive range of topics essential for understanding the role of uniform private law rules in development.

7. The courses will be taught by a faculty of renowned experts, including the Secretary General and legal officers from UNIDROIT, as well as professors from prestigious universities around the world.

8. A complete and detailed course syllabus will be sent to successful applicants.

IV. KEY REASONS TO APPLY FOR 2025 UNIDROIT ATLC SUMMER SCHOOL

9. Participants can expect the following:

- (i) Expert-led learning: Learn from leading international experts in the field of private law;
- (ii) Practical experience: Gain experience through group work assignments and visits to local institutions, such as Hubei Provincial Museum, Hubei Science and Technology Museum and high-tech companies based in Wuhan;
- (iii) Networking opportunities: Connect with peers from diverse countries and build an international network in the legal field;

- (iv) Internship prospects: Outstanding trainees will have the opportunity to be recommended for internships at UNIDROIT;
- (v) Recognition: Receive a certificate upon successful completion of the programme, which can enhance participants' professional profiles.

V. ELIGIBILITY

10. The 2025 UNIDROIT ATLC Summer School is open to global law students who are interested in private law especially commercial law, and aspire to work in legal affairs in international organisations. We strongly encourage students from diverse cultural backgrounds to apply and explore more possibilities in further law development together.

11. To apply for 2025 UNIDROIT ATLC Summer School, applicants must fulfil the following requirements:

- (i) Aged 18 years old or over;
- (ii) Current undergraduates, master students and doctoral students enrolled in law programmes at universities and colleges around the world;
